CURIOUS HISTORICAL NOTES
[From the New York Herald.]

Accordingly the reader of this book, from Miss Flora M Flimsy up to Professor Darwin will find it not only interesting but instructive. It is a neatly London printed imperial octavo of some 250 pages type large and clear, paper of the fa[vo]rite rich London cream tint—"a book of modes and customs from remote periods up to the present time" (by W. B. L.), with fifty four full page and other engravings and is published in London by Ward Lock & Tyler and issued in New York from Scribner Welford & Co's.

The legend on the title is quaintly suggestive of the comprehensive subject of the volume to wit:—

O who will shoe my fair foot
And who will glove my hand
And who will lace my middle jimp
With a new made London band?

The preface broadly suggests the general design of the book to be an argument for the corset and its necessity and usefulness as an article of female adornment, and the testimony collected from the time of Homer to the present day though involving much of the fiercest condemnation, is adroitly calculated to justify the corset. The chapter of contents begins with the origin of the corset in the waist belt of the gentle savage its use among ancient people from Egypt and Palestine to China. Then we have the corset according to Homer and Terentius, the strophium of Rome and the mitra of Greece the peplus Cleopatra's jewels, and tight lacing on the Tiber. Then follow the Frankish fashions of the Dark Ages the Monks and their corset wearing gentlemen, Chaucer on small waists, etc. Then a general chapter on the fashions from Francis the First of France to "Good Queen Bess" of England, as she is facetiously styled by the Sassenach. Then we are given the excessively rigid and elaborate fashions of the epoch of Louis XIV and the patches etc of Charles the First and the tight lacing which prevailed under Cromwell, and so on to Louis XV and XVI and the terrific French Revolution which completely revolutionized female dress as it did everything else and on to the tight waists of Vienna, down to the Parisian styles and fashions of corsets of the present day. This comprehensive history of the corset embraces many curious letters, descriptions, criticisms and illustrations upon the subject, and the general subject of the fashions from the ancient Egyptians down to our time. We will give an extract or two.

The first full page engraving illustrative of the charms of the corset is that of a Circassian lady a model of feminine beauty, whose corset is thus described

"What would our ladies think of this fashion on the part of the famed beauties of Circassia. The women wear a corset made of morocco and furnished with two plates of wood placed on the chest, which, by their strong pressure, prevent the expansion of the chest. This corset also confines the bust from the collar bones to the waist, by means of a cord which passes through leather rings. They even wear it through the night, and only take it off when required to put on another quite as small."

The ancient Egyptians, that great people whose monuments attest their progress in the arts of a high civilization were not a corset wearing people. An extract from Fulham thus describes the costumes of the ladies

"Their dress, according to Herodotus, usually consisted of but one garment, though a second was often added. Among the upper orders the favorite attire was a petticoat tied round the waist with a gay sash, and worn under a robe of fine linen, or a sort of chintz, variously colored and made large and loose, with wide sleeves, the band being fastened in front, just under the bust. Their feet were encased in sandals and their persons were lavishly decked with ornaments of jewels in silver and jewels in gold, with precious gems of extraordinary size."

So with the ancient Israelites a race of great men and beautiful women. The latter had nothing nearer the corset than a girdle, which permitted the full development of the chest and full play to the lungs the stomach and the liver though our author attempts to twist this girdle into an apology for a corset. The girdle, too, was the distinguishing article of attire of the splendid women of ancient Greece, the mothers of the first recorded conquerors of the known world.

According to Homer, the girdle, or cestus, was derived from Juno and Venus, mother of the Loves and Graces a fashion from the goddesses of high Olympus

In an extract given from Terentius a Roman dramatist, who flourished five hundred and sixty years B. C., the wholesome Roman country girl of his time was not the distorted creature of fashion of the capital. He says

The pretty creature (the country girl) isn't at all like our town ladies, who saddle their backs and straight lace their waists to make them well shaped. If any chance to grow a little plumper than the rest, they presently cry, "She is an beast ess" and then her allowance must be shortened, and though she be naturally fat and lusty, yet by her dieting she is made as slender as a broom stick. By this means one woodcock or another is caught in the spring

Yet the engraving of a Roman lady in the reign of Heliogabalus shows that the world subduing Romans, like the ancient Greeks, could boast a race of women whose distinguishing perfections were not destroyed or distorted by corsets, though this author labors for a different conclusion

From the Dark Ages down to the sixteenth century the corset in reality begins to be developed enlarged and improved, until in the time of Queen Elizabeth it is presented as the most shocking and hideous of female fashionable tortures. This book gives us an engraving of "a corset cover of steel worn (in France and Italy) in the time of Catharine de Medici, as an instrument of torture, one would think, would qualify the wearer grown to it to bear without a groan the rack and wheel of the Inquisition. The same may be said of the "corset cover of steel worn (in England) in the reign of Queen Elizabeth," to which a cotemporary English author applies the following

These privie coats by artsmen made so strong
With bones, with paste, with such like ware,
Whereby their backs and sides grow long
And now they harnest gallants are
Were they for use against the foe
Our dames for Amazons might go

The vicious temper and dreadful death of poor old Queen Bess were doubtless largely due to the torments she suffered under this painful and barbarous fashion, worse than any of the revolting deforming inventions of the Flathead Indians or savages of Peru. But our author makes Queen Elizabeth an apology for the corset even in the shape of a steel cuirass.

This fearful torture was continued down to Louis XIV and XV and if the bloody and diabolical French Revolution had brought about no other reform there would still be some compensation for its atrocities in its liberation of the French women for a time from the merciless tortures of the corsets and crinoline of the Bourbons and in substituting the simple ancient Greek costume with the Republic.

We have said that the general design of this book is an apology for the corset. We have to say in conclusion that its especial design is an advertisement for certain corset-makers, and it is an advertisement so skilfully gotten up as to lead to much mischief, if not exposed as a well contrived and plausible apology for tight lacing. In this view this pretty book is reduced to the calibre of Dr. Humbug's traveling van, embellished with paintings of the miraculous virtues of his infallible elixir from the fountain of youth. It is a book purporting to give a true history of the "corset and the crinoline," while it disregards the truths of history, the laws of nature the best established facts of medical science. With this opinion we dismiss it as a "sell" upon the general reason and a cunning advertising dodge. Only this and nothing more." Hence the anonym as author W. B. L. for otherwise we should have been favored with his name.

Soon after the vote on the eleventh article Trumbull approached Senator Morrill of Maine and remarked to him that he was not pledged to vote against the second or eighth article. Whereupon, Morrill replied "We have had enough of your pledges and don't want any more of them."

The Chicago Tribune says "As to Seward he stays at home of nights drinking sherry kindly furnished by Marshal Murray, his appointee in New York."

The Presidents and Vice Presidents

The death of Presidents Harrison, Taylor and Lincoln during their terms of office have induced us to look back upon those who have filled the two highest stations of the Republic.

General Washington was fifty seven years of age when he accepted the office of President and at the period of his retirement was in his sixty sixth year and died in his sixty eighth year. His successor Mr. Adams who had been eight years Vice President was in his sixty second year when he became President, and was of course in his sixty sixth year when he left the office. Mr. Jefferson who had been also Vice President was fifty eight when he became President and was sixty six when he retired. George Clinton succeeded Aaron Burr and was re-elected with Mr. Madison and died in his second term at Washington on the 20th April 1812 at the advanced age of seventy two. Mr. Madison, in his first election to the Presidency, was in his fifty eighth year and of course at the close of his last term was in his sixty sixth year. Elbridge Gerry who was inaugurated with him as Vice President, on the 4th of March, 1813, died the next year at the age of three score and ten.

Mr. Madison's Presidency therefore presents the singular fact that two Vice Presidents died within two years of each other of old age, leaving the country for four years without a second elective officer of the Government.

Mr. Monroe at his election in 1817 was in his fifty-ninth year, and was at the close of his administration sixty six. John Quincy Adams was born on the 11th of July, 1767 and of course at his inauguration on the 4th March 1825, was in his fifty eighth year. Mr. Calhoun was inaugurated as Vice President with Mr. Adams, served two terms and at their close was not fifty one years of age. General Jackson was nearly sixty two years of age at his inauguration, and nearly seventy when his second term ended.

Mr. Van Buren was in his fifty seventh year, and his successor, Gen. Harrison, was sixty eight years of age when he was inaugurated, on the 4th of March 1841 and he died of old age one month afterwards on the 4th of April 1841. Vice President Tyler who succeeded Gen. Harrison was fifty one years of age and served the whole Presidential term with the exception of one month. James K. Polk was in his fiftieth year and was not fifty four when his term ended.

General Taylor was inaugurated in his sixty fifth year and died July 10th 1850 in his sixty sixth year being succeeded by Vice President Fillmore, who was born on the 7th January, 1800.

General Pierce was in his forty ninth year and the Vice President, W. R. King resigned the Presidency pro tem of the Senate on account of ill health on the 20th of December 1852, went to the West Indies and died on the 18th of April 1853 never having been inaugurated.

Mr. Buchanan was sixty-five at his election to the Presidency, and was in the seventieth year at the end of his term which accounts for his irresolution and timidity at the close of his career actually fostering the rebellion he should have strangled in its birth.

Mr. Lincoln was fifty-two years of age when he took the oath of office, and fifty six when he was assassinated.

Four out of the first five Presidents all assumed office at the ages of fifty seven or fifty eight, and closed their official terms of eight years each by their sixty sixth year. Where this rule has been broken in upon the incumbent has either had but one term or died of old age with the exception of the hero of New Orleans, a man of extraordinary vigor of intellect and will.

By the deaths of three Presidents the country has been without an elected Vice President for nine years and a half, and adding the four years of vacancy occasioned by the deaths of the aged patriots Clinton and Gerry and the four years additional caused by the death of W. R. King and we have the long period of seventeen years and a half during which the American people have had no person, elected by them filling the second executive office in the Government.

The tendency of latter days, guided by the uncertainty of life in advanced age is to take younger men for the two highest offices in the gift of the people, and it is particularly necessary at the present crisis during the progress of reconstruction in the rebel States, and for the honorable and satisfactory settlement of our righteous claims on England for the piratical pranks of the Alabama.

Our next President will be the greatest soldier of the age a quiet determined modest, self reliant citizen who will rank next to General Washington with his greatest and best predecessors, and he will be forty seven years of age.

Wendell Phillips in a Hornet's Nest.

[N Y Correspondence Springfield Republican.]

Wednesday evening I attended the meeting of the Anti Slavery Society at Steinway Hall and had the pleasure of hearing Wendell Phillips speak. Am I wrong in challenging the world to produce his equal as an orator? Decidedly, I do think he is the most graceful speaker I ever listened to. His presence and his voice are perfect and the wonderful play of his wit, the readiness of his illustrations, the aptness of his thought, the scathingness of his sarcasm, the bitterness of his invective, are beyond comparison or parallel. However unexpectedly called on whatever may be the emergencies of the occasion there is no flurry no bungling about his work. The blade springs from its sheath as if by magic and with the glitter and delicate play of the rapier, and all the great sweep of the broad sword, swift and sure as that of the matador it goes to the mark. Every sentence is as round and perfect as a star. No other polish could amend them. On this evening Mr. Phillips was in a situation, having managed to stir up all the elements in his morning address. Colonel Higginson took him to task for asserting that the Southern bred negro bears [il]leging that while his regiment was encamped along the Rappahannock the rebels could land bullets in his lines which his men could not return. To that Mr. Phillips replied that they stole the guns they didn't make them. Then Miss Dickinson took the platform and sailed into him for deserting woman, asserting that the negro's bone she thought something should be said in behalf of woman both white and black. Then a woman—I don't think she was a Sorosis—with a long sharp nose, got up in the body of the house (those on the platform of course were not responsible for deeds done in the body) and went plunging about and charging up and down the aisles, waving her hands covered with black woolen gloves—which produced a very fine effect denouncing him as a traitor to woman and an enemy of the sex. When her batteries were silenced, Mrs Stanton ran alongside and poured in a broadside from her lower deck guns so altogether I fancy Mr. Phillips thought there was more of the aunty than anti about the meeting. But he got out of the scrape capitally and explained as well as Mr. Dickens did without committing himself to anything very irrevocably, except of course to the negro interest.

GOSSIP ABOUT LORD LYONS —The British Embassy at Paris according to a correspondent from that city is at present occupied in the solution of a very delicate question. When Lord Lyons was at Washington he was introduced to a very handsome lady Miss T—— G—— whose mother was a Spaniard and father a Frenchman but a naturalized American citizen residing near New Orleans. As it was at the young lady's request the first introduction took place Lord Lyons was very polite towards her almost to the verge of a flirtation. Time rolled on his Lordship came to Paris and the young lady went to St. Petersburg.

The rumored marriage of Lord Lyons with the noble widow of a brother diplomatist brought his admirer from St. Petersburg. She sends daily invitations to his lordship to join her dinner parties, to come to her balls she presents him with costly gifts that are immediately returned. Being rich well connected and witty, she has the entree to every circle and is sure to arrive as soon as his lordship about whose movements she is kept well informed. The French ladies humor the lady's whims but the matter is becoming so annoying that the First Lady of France has agreed to use her influence in the rescue of the hard hearted Embassador from his fair tormentor.

House rents are so exhorbitant in New Orleans that a "grasping landlord" advertises to let a splendid hogshead just vacated by the former occupant who [illegible] for no fault. The premises are in a sweet location for a family with young children, are in thorough repair with bunghole centrally situated and hoops in good order.

Equal Political Rights

A correspondent at Independence, Polk county, sends us the following communication. He thinks the question of equal suffrage has not been fully met and fairly discussed, therefore he asks us to give his remarks a place, which we take the first opportunity to do.

NEGRO SUFFRAGE

The "irrepressible conflict" is not yet ended. The principles of the Declaration of Independence are not yet triumphant. The system of involuntary servitude, except for crime is overthrown. And now the question is between partial and universal [illegible], or whether or not the Declaration of Independence is a fallacy. Shall we have among us a class subordinate on account of color or inferiority of race?

The rule of inferiority will apply to as many whites as blacks, for in the United States there are white men equal in numbers to the negroes who, in point of intellect and morals will not grade above the negro race. Why not disfranchise them as well as the negro?

Has a man justly any less natural or civil rights on account of color or for not being quite as smart as his neighbor? Nonsense! The Declaration of Independence is true, and is the foundation of republican government.

The just powers of government are derived from the consent of the governed. Then it follows that every adult subject has a voice in that government.

"The United States shall guarantee to every State in the Union a republican form of government." Then it follows that the United State Government has the right to proclaim and enforce the right of universal suffrage in every State in the Union. If the people are not ready to sustain the government in this, they are not ready or fit for republican government.

The people will sustain just as good government as they are fit for. An aristocracy would sustain no better one than the people would; therefore power may be as safely trusted in the hands of the people, be they ignorant or intelligent, as in the hands of an aristocracy, for the exercise of arbitrary [illegible] always develops tyranny in the party exercising it, as in the case of the Southern slaveholders. But where the power exercised by an agent depends on the consent and direction of the principal, the agent becomes a servant instead of a tyrant, and his interest is to obey, and where the people are masters their liberties are safer than in the hands of an aristocracy.

The Democratic party seems to have resolved itself into an aristocracy founded on the degradation of the negro race, which they are determined to ride. A portion of the Union party object to this riding, and declare that the negro don't like it, but another portion of the party that split off from the old Democratic party in 1861 say, "Let em ride, we'll see they don't ride 'em to death as they [illegible] to do."

Now the Declaration of Independence will be practically a fallacy, so long as one portion of the people are allowed to degrade another portion. And if the [illegible] milk and water policy of the Union party is not changed for the principle of universal suffrage, it deserves defeat. Perhaps if it was thoroughly purged of the Democratic element [illegible] into it in 1861, it would stand on the principles of the Declaration. If so, then the quicker it is purged the better for the hopes of freedom, for the principles of that declaration are bound [illegible] in this nation, or the liberties of the [illegible].

F. M. M.

We [illegible] making some remarks on this communication. Our correspondent is evidently a man of strong convictions, and one of that somewhat impetuous class who cannot wait until results naturally work out. He thinks there is no adequate reason, founded on color, why blacks should not have all natural, civil and political rights which white men [illegible], and he is not willing to wait till the rule of equal rights can be established by the growth of public opinion—the only safe and natural way. On the same principle the early Abolitionists acted. They could not wait for the slow but inevitable march of events which would remove slavery. They were [illegible] to get the curse out of the way and in their impatience did not realize that great things cannot be done in a day. But men of this [illegible] are useful men. We would not depreciate them or their services. At the same time it must be remembered—for it is the [illegible] which history teaches—that everything which is of value to mankind, every great change in the social order, every measure which secures larger freedom and causes a wider recognition of human rights is of slow growth. It [illegible] time to perfect results which shall [illegible] the test of time.

Like our correspondent, we do not believe that color should be [illegible] disqualification for the exercise of the elective franchise. Through these columns we have frequently said as much. Those who founded this Republic were of this [illegible] opinion, and whoever condemns this doctrine must condemn them. If there are to be any disqualifications they should [illegible] something else besides color. There is no justice or sense in excluding an intelligent black man from the ballot-box and allowing [illegible] white men to vote. Nor can such a doctrine long stand. It is certain to go down and be trampled upon in the progress of liberal and just ideas. There may be too much suffrage now. But if any are to be excluded the time will come when such exclusion will be made on other grounds than that of color, when the white man and the black who have the same qualifications in other respects, shall have the same political [illegible]. The country is going back to the doctrine it held years ago before the slave power obtained control and created such bitter prejudices of caste and race. No man or party will be able to check this movement. It will take time to bring about the result. But it will come as surely as the abolition of slavery came about. And he is but a poor observer who does not know it.

At the same time it is evident that the prejudices which slavery engendered have not yet sufficiently died away to allow a general recognition of the doctrine of suffrage which was held in former times. Therefore it must wait. The question of universal, not impartial suffrage was presented to the people of Ohio last fall and they rejected it. 2[illegible] 000 voters declared against it, and 21[illegible] 000 voters declared for it. Five years ago nobody would have voted for it; two years ago nothing like the great number of 216 000 would have said [illegible] it; next year it will get more votes than it received last. Equal suffrage in the South will go far toward settling the question for the whole country. Parties are taking such a shape in the South that the Democrats will have an interest in maintaining the negro's right to vote. The "pot-metal" howl about "negro equality" is never heard in the South where the negroes are a numerous part of the population.

We cannot agree with our correspondent that the Government has the right to proclaim and enforce universal suffrage in every State of the Union. The States have the recognized right, under the Constitution to control this matter for themselves. And it would be easier to accomplish the result by the action of the States than by the [illegible] of the General Government even if the latter had the power.

The Democratic element of the Union party, the element which came into the party during the war, does not offer any more opposition to the doctrine of impartial suffrage than is offered by some old Republicans. Many of these persons, formerly Democrats, are among the foremost advocates of equal political rights. Our correspondent [illegible] what he calls the milk and water policy of the Union party on this question. The party advances just as fast as the people advance. This was its principle in relation to the abolition of slavery. This will be its principle in reference to impartial suffrage. It is not wise to attempt to do anything before it can be done. But it is the part of wise statesmanship to watch the growth and progress of public opinion, to study the demands of the times and to act accordingly.

The Methodist General Conference has made appropriations for missionary purposes as follows: Liberia, $48 855; South American, $40 870; China, $84 728; India, $218 894; Bulgaria, $283 118; Mexico and Central America, $10,000; foreign population in the United States, $229 5[illegible]; Indian missions, $18 000; American domestic missions, $182,200; other missions, including missions of southern territory, $423 640; miscellaneous $[illegible]2 224. It is noticeable that so large a sum is devoted to American missions. It is a truth, though not as widely recognized as it ought to be, that there is an ample field in our own country for the energies of moralists, missionaries and reformers, and that while foreign missions may be very well it is not necessary to make our whole philanthropy of that telescopic kind which looks away to Borrioboola Gha and can see nothing worth doing at home. The Methodist Conference has done well.

Josh Billings says: "Those famylys who are really fust class never are afraid that they shall get cheated out of ther respecktability while the codfish familys are always nervus lest tha mite."

This illustrates the whole doctrine of "nigger equality," as preached by the inferior class of Democrats. People of respectability and character are not afraid of negro competition. Those only are actuated by this fear who have such little minds, or are so degraded, as to feel that there is positive danger that the negro, unless he is oppressed, will assert and maintain a superiority over them.

The San Francisco Examiner, the leading Democratic organ of California is highly indignant at the proposition recently made in Congress for the Government to tax its own bonds. The humbug about the Government taxing its own bonds was one of the leading tenets of the Democratic party of Oregon during the late canvass. The Democratic organ at San Francisco says it is repudiation, the Government has no right to tax the bonds and is pledged not to do it.

Gov Fenton of New York, a competitor with Colfax for the nomination for Vice President, on hearing of the action of the Convention, telegraphed as follows:

Hon S Colfax: I congratulate you upon your nomination, and General Grant in having an associate so worthy to share with him the cordial support of the people.

A Grant Club was organized at Sacramento last week exclusively of Germans. One hundred and forty nine joined it, of whom one hundred and three voted for Haight last September.

STATE ITEMS.

The body of H. N. Jones, who was drowned in the Klamath river, near Cottonwood, a short time since, was found on Sunday last about seven miles down the river from the ferry where the deceased was drowned.

Says the Sentinel: The fine bell for the public school of Jacksonville district, procured mainly by the energy of Director Beekman, has arrived. It is from the foundry of W. T. Garrat, San Francisco, and weighs 450 pounds.

An oak tree has been discovered near Salem which says the Record, in its slow and patient growth has enveloped the antlers of a deer. The points now protrude but a few inches from the body of the tree. May be the tree is hollow and the deer is on the inside.

The Willamette Woolen Factory at Salem is being repaired, enlarged, and generally "reconstructed." It is to be warmed with steam pipes, which will also heat the vats in the dye-house, and warm the dry house, so that no fire will be kept except in a fire-proof boiler room.

The Forest Grove Monthly is the name of a little eight page sheet, neatly printed, which is designed "to bring the educational work at Forest Grove before the public." It is published gratuitously, and promises "to present something in each issue of independent value, or bearing on the general subject of education." At another time we may republish something from the number before us.

The Record laments that the streets of Salem are so wide and the blocks and lots so large as to make the cost of laying pipes for a supply of gas and water an insuperable obstacle to the construction of these necessary works. So Salem, with all its advantages of situation, with its wide streets and parks and avenues and shade trees and blocks big enough for small farms where the happy denizen can almost enjoy city and country life together, has yet its serious inconveniences.

BY DALLES TELEGRAPH

The following intelligence was received by the Dalles Mountaineer, from Camp Harney, June 4th:

DALLES, June 19th—2 P. M.—On Monday, May 25th, Lieut Stanton, 1st Cavalry, with 37 men of his company, ("F") started from his post to return the Boise Indian scouts to their station, and with the intention of doing a little scouting himself on the way.

On Sunday, May 31st, Archie McIntosh, chief of scouts, found a band of hostile Indians on the north fork of the Malheur, within the morning's hard of Castle Rock, sixty miles from here. Here they had established a salmon trap and were prepared to enjoy life. A band of 16 or 20 made their escape, but a very important sub chief, E. E. Gant, with four warriors, were captured by Lieut Stanton, in the dense thicket on the bank of the river while Archie took in about 20 horses. During the skirmish, First Sergeant McCullough received a severe flesh wound in the right side, from an iron slug, which narrowly missed the vital parts, and was cut out by Surgeon Moffat on Tuesday.

On Sunday night, fearing an attack in force, which was really imminent, Lieut Stanton despatched a messenger to the post for reinforcements. At 8 o'clock on Monday morning Lieutenants McCleave and Hopes of the 8th Cavalry, were in the saddle with 80 men of the 1st and 8th and a ride of fourteen hours took them to the scene of the difficulty.

On Tuesday, E. E. Gant was summoned to a talk with Lieut McCleave in which he expressed his desire to live at peace, and his willingness to send out for his warriors and also for old We Wah We Wah, who is regarded as the big chief of all this district, urging them to come in and surrender. These stipulations appear to have been carried out on his part in good faith, for when on Saturday the 6th inst, Capt. Kelly went out to the camp, he found some fifty Indians already there and had the satisfaction of meeting face to face the renowned We Wah We Wah himself, and of hearing from his own lips that he was tired of fighting. He says that it will take from seven to ten days to gather his whole tribe, but that by that time they will all come in and go with the white chief. If this capture can be fully consummated it will be of immense value to the country. Our experience has unfortunately been, that so long as Indian hostilities are kept up, we have received relatively more damage than we have inflicted, and this is true of the whole country, East as well as West.

It is a very hopeful sign that they are willing to sue for peace at this season of the year, when it is most easy for them to subsist without help from the whites, and also this is the first time old We Wah We Wah has shown himself to us, except in a hostile attitude.

In the hands of the Indians and in their camps were found several mementos of unfortunate victims. Among others was one of the latest patent Henry rifles, with globe sight, a hat perforated by a ball which evidently had passed through the owner's head, and unmistakable relics of three soldiers who deserted from this post last winter and met a fearful fate while trying to escape from service.

It is probable that the affair of last winter at Slaughter mountain, when so many of them were cut off by Major Perry, while in fancied security, has had a powerful effect in disposing the hostiles to peace now. They have learned that it is sometimes dangerous to be safe even for Indians.

A messenger has been dispatched to intercept Gen Crook en route for Camp Wilson, and he is expected here in a day or two to assume the management of the treaty.

SHIP BUILDING.—We have had some conversation with a gentleman who came here from Puget Sound on the last trip of the George S. Wright concerning the ship building now going on at the various places on the sound. He says that a large vessel of 600 tons register is near completed at Port Madison and the ... wners have the draughts for another of much larger dimensions to be built soon. Other parties are about to begin the building of two other vessels at Port Madison and another large one at Port Ludlow. These are only a few of the ... in course of construction or soon to be commenced on Puget Sound. The multiplication of these enterprises on Puget Sound indicates clearly that ship building is a paying business, and suggests the inquiry—Might not Oregon capital be profitably employed in ship building on the Willamette and Columbia rivers. Since our last notice of this matter we have been furnished with some figures concerning costs and profits which seem to answer the query in conclusive terms.

For example: say that we can get a 600 tons bark built ... for $25,000—and experienced ship builders say that it can be done. The cost and profits of running her will ... in the following figures.

C... per month	$125
Mate's	60
2d Mate	50
Cook	50
Six men at $35 each	210
...	120
Total for one month	$615
Total for one year		$7 380
Add to this, cost per voyage—
San Francisco and Columbia bar pilotage	$200
River pilot ...	100
Towage ...	200
W...	100
Total	$600
Total for six voyages per year		$3 600
Total expenses for sailing per year		$11 480

The above calculation is based on the supposition that the vessel would make six trips in twelve months, between here and San Francisco. Now suppose her to carry 600 tons per trip each way, making a total of 1,200 tons for each round voyage. Six voyages would amount to 7,200 tons. Taking the average price of freight ... and we have the sum of $36 000 as the earnings of one year. Take from this the ... $12,480, and we have left, the snug sum of $23,520 as the net profit of one year ... allowing $3,... for insurance, we have $20,320—almost enough to cover the expense of building and equipping the vessel. If these figures do not put the matter in the proper light, we will feel obliged to any one competent to give an opinion, who will suggest the necessary corrections.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.—We clip the subjoined items from the Register. We understand that the celebrated lecturer, Rev Father Burchardt, whose lectures have been so highly spoken of by the Portland press, will deliver a short course of lectures in this place, commencing on W... evening next. Some of the lady members of the R... church got up an ice cream festival for the benefit of the church fund on Tuesday evening of this week, which netted $35 in coin. The Vancouver ... Works Company are pushing forward their enterprise with commendable energy. The newly invented ... for boring pipes, which the company are using has proved highly advantageous, and will be the means of ... the work immensely. Mr Dave Brown ... of Oro Fino Hall, intends giving a ball on the evening of the Fourth. All who can ... three dollars or the equivalents, are invited to attend. It is ... that ... has more money invested in breweries than any town of its size in the United States. Anton Young's brewery, which was erected last ... at a cost of $10,000 is certainly a fine structure, and the large one of Damphoefer & Co, cost not less than $3,000. Total $13,000. Quite enough to ... a woolen mill in operation. But mills ain't our forte.

RAILROAD MATTERS IN YAMHILL.—Col Chapman and ... Gibbs returned yesterday from Yamhill county where they had been in attendance upon a meeting of the County Commissioners, as advocates of the interests of the West Side railroad. We learn from them that the Court ... decided on Thursday to assume for the interest on $75 000 of the Company's bonds ... per cent per annum in gold, for ... The details of the ... will be ... Mr. ... of the ... at Lafayette ... By the terms of the contract, the ... is to ... the interest ... Mr W S Ladd as Trustee, who ... and keep the bonds till the road ... to the Yamhill river, when all the ... are to be duly ... The county ... the use of the Company's ... The west ... of this sort.

... —Yesterday was ... Everybody was ... physical ... the fear of running ... Everybody's idea of the ... One fat man whom we met in a shady place and who was working frantically ... fanning ... as any ... in this vicinity, the most ... the world would run up to 160° ... he religiously believed ... from 100° to 600° ... a short walk in the street was ... to dispel all wonder at the extreme views prev... altitude of the thermometer ... THE PRETTIEST HAT YET.—Mr Mey... will to-day introduce the nobbiest and prettiest style of hats yet offered—the 4th of July Hat. THESE WHEELS, UNEQUALLED AND UNRIVALLED in the United States or the world, have been fully tested on this coast, many being in use at this date, driving all kinds of machinery, Saw Mills, Flour Mills, Quartz Mills, Woolen Factories, &c., &c.

CAUTION.

To all whom it may concern: I hereby give notice that the so-called "Shipley's Pacific Turbine Water Wheel" is a direct infringement and copy of the "James Leffel's American Double Turbine Water Wheel," and its manufacture and use is hereby prohibited. Parties interested will take notice, for I shall prosecute said infringements to the utmost extent of the law.

That all may know I mean what I say, and am not playing "bluff," I give the following extract from a legal opinion on this subject from one of the most eminent Patent Attorneys in the United States.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 17, 1868.

"MR. A. MYERS—In accordance with your request, we have examined the patents of Shipley on Water Wheels, and are clearly of the opinion that they both infringe the Leffel's patents. In both of Shipley's Wheels he uses the upper and lower tiers of buckets precisely as Leffel does and in this he clearly infringes. The fact that Shipley has applied another series of buckets in addition to the two used by Leffel, does not relieve him from the consequence of infringement at all. He has no right to use these two tiers of buckets, whether alone or with a third or any other number of tiers added. It is a clear infringement. Respectfully yours,

DODGE & MUNN.

I hereby give notice that I will prosecute every infringement on our Patents, whether it is the maker, user, buyer or seller. Every infringement, whether our names are used in whole or in part, will be prosecuted.

A. MYERS.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

IT CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E. B. MOORE,	NATHANIEL BELL,
A. L. WALLACE,	G. R. WARD,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY,	JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
W. D. PORTER,	ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity.

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

Medical.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from a virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of those fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, clockmakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. 1y6d4ptf
